CHAS. H. DENEEN BEFORE PROBERS

Tells the Lorimer Investigators about Illinois Politics.

WHAT "HOLY ALLIANCE" WAS

Governor Says He Has Heard of "Jackpot Fund" at Springfield Since 1897 —Another Version of Hines' Telephone Conversation.

Washington, July 14.—Charles S. Deneen, governor of Illinois, described before the Lorimer investigating committee the troubled course of Illinois politics during the senatorial deadlock which ended in the election of William Lorimer as United States senator.

Governor Deneen told how efforts had been made by interests opposed to him to persuade him to become a candidate for senator with a view of eliminating him from the governorship. Senator Lorimer suggested that he (Deneen) become a candidate and promised him the support of Democratic senators if Deneen would agree to make the race. Governor Deneen said he regarded Lorimer as representing the interests who had opposed his nomination and election as governor. In his opinion the contest which had been filed by the defeated Democratic candidate for governor following the election, had been used to force him into the senatorial fight. Lorimer, according to Deneen, was the controlling force in Illinois politics by virtue of his dominating power over Speaker Shurtleff and the coalition of Democrats and Republicans which elected the speaker. By reason of this control, Mr. Lorimer, the witness said, was in a position to declare the governorship vacant had he so desired.

Governor Deneen declared that he declined to become a candidate for the senatorship because he had fostered the direct primary law under which the people of Illinois had declared in favor of the re-election of Former Senator Albert J. Hopkins and he thought he ought to stand by the choice of the people under this law. This Lorimer coalition of Democrats and Republicans in Illinois politics, the governor said, was known as the "holy alliance," while later they became known as the "Black Hand." Governor Deneen said that his followers were known as the "Band of Hope."

The liquor people, the railroads, the gas and electric light companies were the interests named by Deneen as opposing him. Governor Deneen denied that he had aided in Lorimer's election. He had heard of a "jackpot fund" at Springfield since 1897. The probable contributors to this fund, he said, were the railroad companies, the gas and electric light companies, the stock yards and elevator companies, and the Pullman company.

Governor Deneen emphatically denied the testimony of Edward Hines, president of the Edward Hines Lumber company of Chicago, in regard to his telephone conversation with Governor Deneen from Chicago. Governor Deneen said that Mr. Hines called him up from a Chicago bank and asked him if he had received a message from President Taft asking him to use his influence toward the election of Mr. Lorimer.

"I told Mr. Hines," said Governor Deneen, "that I had received no such message and asked him how the message was to come to me. Mr. Hines replied that it was from Senator Aldrich and would be delivered to me through George Reynolds, president of the Continental Commercial National Bank of Chicago. Mr. Reynolds never delivered such a message to me."

GRAND JURY ON ICE

Question of Restraint of Trade in that Article Under Inquiry.

Indianapolis, July 14. — The grand jury investigation under the anti-trust law into the combine of ice manufacturers in this city, has been begun, and several persons, including one independent manufacturer, were before the jury. Evidence was given showing that the combine is selling ice 10 cents lower on the hundred pounds on the south side, where an independent plant is located, than on the north side, where there is no competition.

Ice peddlers testified that they had been compelled to give up some of their largest customers, grocers, butchers and saloons, through threats of the combine to refuse to let them have any ice at all.

CHARGED WITH ABDUCTION

George Barr Jailed on Complaint of St. Louis, Mich., Girl.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 14.—George Barr, aged twenty-eight, is locked up in jail on the charge of abduction, it being alleged that he was instrumental in inducing a fifteen-year-old girl, Mabel Lewis, to leave her home at Midland and come to Grand Rapids.

Barr claims that the girl was to come here, and that they were to be married, she claiming to be of age. He says that when she told him that she was but fifteen he refused to marry her and arranged for her return to her sister at St. Louis, Mich. It was a matrimonial agency romance.

STUDENT READER AFFORDS PART OF ENTERTAINMENTS

Much interest was manifested by the large audience present in Normal Hall Thursday evening in the readings from James Whitcomb Riley given by Prof. A. L. DaGreene.

By way of introduction, Prof. DaGreene spoke of the decadence of poetry which by turns is decried and denied at the present time. The lack of time is a frequently proffered explanation for this, also a feeling very prevalent that the age has left behind its poetical impulses along with other outgrown things and is ashamed of a taste for poetry, the way a youth is ashamed of babyish toys. The earliest literature is always poetry, so it is argued that the later literature should be something else. On the other hand people read more than ever before and read as critically. But people read "on the fly," Professor DaGreene observed. "We do not care so much for the unusual, the distant, the exceptional." The interpretation of common things is liked, he said. The poems to Miriam, Phyllis and Hebe are unread, but if a person doesn't feel attracted to Riley's poems, he is himself exceptional.

Prof. DaGreen then gave numerous poems from Riley. Among these were "The Kind Old Man," "The Old Town," the bear story told by a little boy, and "Inspiration."

Mr. DaGreene's impersonations were very clever, the one of the old man describing the tastes of the village being especially popular.

Miss Abbott, accompanied by Prof. DaGreene at the piano, sang three songs which the students received cordially.

Prof. DaGreene will again read this evening in Normal Hall.

STABBED NEGROE WILL TAKE HIS PUNISHMENT QUIETLY IF HE RECOVERS

William Gibbons, the colored man who was stabbed by Solomon Freeman, Tuesday night, and was taken to the Ann Arbor hospital for treatment, is doing fairly well. One of the wounds although quite deep and serious seems to be healing and no more serious results are anticipated.

There will probably be no warrants sworn out for the arrest of Freeman as the trouble was started by Gibbons.

CITY OFFICIALS BELIEVE WATER SUPPLY SHOULD BE REGULATED—NO SHORTAGE

The reason for the water works board curtailing the use of the city water somewhat is not because there is any trouble with the pumps or that the supply is low, but rather because during the hot weather people used their hose so indefatigably that the pumps were kept working all of the while. The supply is good and satisfactory and the machinery is all in good condition, but it has been thought expedient to regulate the use of the water.

NOTICE TO WATER CONSUMERS

From this date until further notice the use of water will be restricted as follows:

5 to 8 a. m. and 5 to 7 p. m.

The use of water—other than domestic—is, under rule, prohibited—unless by hose under nozzle and in the hands of some person. On violation of this rule, water will be shut off.

EVELYN ARTHUR SEE

Leader of "Absolute Life" Cult Convicted in Chicago.

E. A. SEE IS CONVICTED

Revealer of the "Absolute Life" Found Guilty.

Penalty of One to Ten Years in Penitentiary Follows Conviction.

Chicago, July 14. — Evelyn Arthur See, pretended prophet and head of the "absolute life" cult, was convicted by a jury in the criminal court, after about an hour's deliberation. The penalty will be from one to ten years in the penitentiary. See has decided to appeal the case.

An arraignment of See, his teachings, his women, his attorneys, and a bitter denunciation of the sacrilege of likening him to the Nazarene marked the dramatic crisis of the trial of the "revealer." When the defense had closed its argument and the last word in behalf of the prophet had been pronounced, Assistant State's Attorney Burnham leaped into the arena again for the final plea.

He completed his speech at 4 p. m., the instructions of the court were read and the case was sent to the jury.

TWO KILLED IN CRASH

Auto of Mrs. Burnett, Authoress, Collides with Construction Car.

Port Washington, N. W., July 14.—In a crash between an automobile and a construction car of the New York and North Shore Traction company here one man and a woman were killed and another woman and two young girls were seriously injured.

The man who was killed was Frank P. Jordan, a brother-in-law of Mrs Frances Hodgson Burnett, the novelist, whose car he was driving at the time.

FUGITIVE MITCHELL CAUGHT

Must Answer for Death of Hulda Gustafson of Muskegon.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 14.—Archibald Mitchell, the Grand Trunk dispatcher, who fled from the city following the death of Hulda Gustafson, the Muskegon girl, who died following an alleged criminal operation, was returned to this city. He was arrested in Paragould, Ark., after he had applied for a job with the Missouri Pacific railroad. He was immediately arraigned on the charge of manslaughter and demanded an examination, being committed in default of bond.

He is charged in complicity with Dr. John H. Walsh, who has been held for trial in the superior court.

Drives 100 Miles to Marry.

Petoskey, Mich., July 14.—After driving about one hundred miles by carriage and automobile, searching for their favorite pastor, Miss Lila M. Hosmer, twenty, and Fred N. Tainter, forty, both of Boyne City, were married here by Rev. E. M. Taylor of Charlevoix. They brought a justice of the peace with them to assure the wedding being held on time.

Arrest Murder Suspect.

Cincinnati, O., July 14.—An arrest that the local police believe will clean up the murder of a woman in Bay City, Mich., in June, 1909, was made here when Joseph Jackson, a negro, was taken to police headquarters. He denied the crime, but is being held pending word from the Bay City police.

Heat Kills Port Huron Man.

Port Huron, Mich., July 14.—Stricken by heat while working in the excavation of a cellar, David McDonald, aged sixty-five years, died a few hours later at his home on Willow street. He passed away without having been able to recognize or speak to his family.

MEXICO STILL DISTURBED

Fighting in Oaxaca, with Several Fatalities, and Rioting in San Miguel.

Monterey, July 14. — Fighting between armed bands belonging to two different political factions has been in progress in the Ocotlan district of Oaxaca for several days and more than twenty persons have been killed and a large number wounded. Non-combatants are fleeing from that section.

The rioting in San Miguel, state of San Luis Potosi, has been quelled by federal troops sent for the purpose. The election for governor of that state will take place Saturday and intense excitement exists among the rival factions. The situation in the state of Chiapas is still acute.

D. U. R. WILL PAY $17,750 BUT NO MORE

No definite agreement was reached at the conference in regard to the proposed Congress street bridge held Thursday afternoon between Mayor Towner, City Attorney Lee Brown and the Council and General Manager F. W. Brooks of the D. U. R., President Harry Bullen of the D., J. and C., and Attorney M. J. Cavanaugh.

The cost of this bridge according to the plans submitted by Engineer Benjamin Douglas, will be about $42,000. General Manager Brooks of the D. U. R. stated that the D. U. R. is willing to pay $17,750 toward the new bridge but that the company could not afford to pay any more than that sum.

ONTARIO FIRES REPORTED NOW UNDER CONTROL

Toronto, Ont., July 14.—Supt. Blasck of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario railway at North Bay, states that the fires in the Porcupine district are now under control.

Horror follows horror in the reports which hour by hour reach here of the great forest fire in the Temiskaming region.

It is impossible to state with any cetainly the extent of the loss of life and property, but late reports place the loss of lives at 300 and of property at several million dollars.

Fire sufferers from the north have begun to arrive here with heart breaking accounts of the death dealing fire. One man gives a pathetic account of seeing a launch upset and two women and some children in it drowned before the eyes of hundreds who were powerless to help them. The list of drowned will be long if the number of boats found adrift on the lakes in the burned districts is any sign.

Put Dead at 300.

All the party agreed that the estimate that 300 lives had been lost was not excessive and that at least 200 had perished in the Porcupine lake.

"At about 1:30 yesterday," said one survivor, "a man dashed out of the bush to say that a quarter of a mile away a box car containing half a carload of dynamite was on fire. Ten minutes later there was an explosion that knocked men down.

The woods around there were on fire and the town was blazing with a fury that was taking the roofs of all buildings directly toward the lake. Hanging on to logs or anything they could get hold of, these men went into the lake with their horses, dogs and horned cattle and there they stayed for more than three hours, with the smoke so thick that they could not see their mates, with flames reaching out to scorch them and with live coals constantly falling on their heads. At least four persons went under during the experience."

As the fire grew hotter and hotter those behind were crowded out into the deep water by those near shore and were drowned.

SHIPYING POOL NEARS ITS END

Steamship Companies No Longer to Control Immigration.

GOVERNMENT MAY INTERFERE

Department of Justice Thinks, However, Agreements May Not be Renewed, and Action Will be Unnecessary.

Washington, July 14.—Information which has come to the department of justice concerning the Atlantic conference of the North Atlantic steamship companies, which was recently begun in London, indicates there will not be a renewal of the pooling agreements for the control of the immigrant traffic business to the United States.

The conference is being held for the purpose of determining whether these pooling agreements shall be continued. The department of justice has watched developments very closely as it now has pending in the courts a suit to break up this control of the immigrant business.

The government's suit seeks an injunction against the companies forming the steamship trust to prevent them from engaging in traffic from American ports because of the allegedly illegal control of the immigrant traffic. It was brought under the Sherman anti-trust law and the question was presented as to whether the United States courts had jurisdiction in cases where the agreements were made between foreign companies in other countries. The government contended that so long as these agreements resulted in a violation of the anti-trust laws in the commerce of this country, the United States court should have jurisdiction. This suit was to have been pushed as quickly as possible if the agreements between the companies were persisted in.

It does not however, appear to be fear of prosecution by the department of justice which threatens the discontinuance of the steamship combine. It is reported to the department that several of the German steamship companies have become so strong they could have little to gain by remaining in the pool, which simply insures a certain portion of the business to the smaller companies. If the agreements are abandoned, or if the larger companies withdraw and leave the combine with a greatly reduced control over the business, the government suit will probably be given up.

Former Strong Man Drops Dead.

New York, July 14.—Charles Jefferson, who was Barnum & Bailey's strong man twenty-five years ago, and who used to pose for St. Gaudens and other sculptors, dropped dead of apoplexy at Third avenue and Fourteenth street.

QUARREL CAUSED EXPOSE

Jones Testifies that He and Johnson Had Fallen Out.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 14.—Frank H. Jones, sentenced to the Ionia reformatory following his plea of guilty to forging $700,000 or more in notes and orders of the American Fuse company of Muskegon, at the hearing of Charles L. Johnson, treasurer of the company, a Chicago banker, stated that the discovery of his wholesale forgeries was due to the fact that he and Johnson quarreled and fell out in business after a struggle by each to get control of the company.

Jones testified in police court that about three weeks before the crash, after Johnson had refused to join with him on notes to keep the concern going, he called him to Muskegon from Chicago and told him that he had better sign the notes or both would go to jail. He signed, Jones says. Jones stated that his forgeries in the past six months amounted to $75,000. He said the first forged note he paid himself, and after that, Jones testified, that Johnson discounted them in Chicago. Jones will probably be on the stand for another day.

SAYS SON IS SLAYER

Michigan Mother Tells Police He Choked Wife to Death.

Charlotte, Mich., July 14.—Willian E. Lonsberry, a well-known Eaton county farmer, has been arrested pending investigation of a remarkable story told by his aged mother, who declared that she saw her son choke his wife to death six years ago and place the body in an old well. The mother said that the couple had quarreled over property matters. She said that she was eighty-four years old and did not expect to live long. The story she told had been weighing on her conscience so heavily that she could not sleep.

The well will be explored in search of the woman's body. Lonsberry declares that his mother is crazy.

YPSILANTI RESPONDS TO NEEDS OF SUFFERERS IN BURNED DISTRICTS

PROCLAMATION

To the Citizens of Ypsilanti:

A devastating fire has practically taken from off the map several prosperous communities in our home state, leaving thousands of people destitute, even deprived of clothing with which to cover their nakedness.

Last month a hurricane swept over our beautiful city. Had that storm cloud dropped one-eighth of a mile nearer the earth Ypsilanti, as a city of homes, would have been totally destroyed, leaving those of us who survived dependent upon the charity of others.

Opportunity is now at hand to aid the destitute and at the same time render up a thank offering in token of our miraculous escape from destruction.

What the sufferers mostly need is substantial clothing, bedding, footwear, food and medicines, and it is urgently requested that all who can will aid the homeless.

All contributions can be left at the Hawkins House, from whence they will be promptly forwarded to those in charge of the distribution among the needy.

Dated, Ypsilanti, Mich., July 14, 1911.

TRACY L. TOWNER, Mayor.

The appeal which officials in the burned district of northern Michigan have made for aid has met with immediate response in Ypsilanti. The first indication was the proffer of the Boy Scouts of the city by Dr. Sherzer to the governor. The next was the plan which M. K. Phillips, proprietor of the Hawkins House, has started. He has placed a large box in front of the hotel and all having clothing which they would like to send to their burned-out neighbors in the north may simply deposit it in this waiting box and, with out loss of time or any red tape whatever, it will be forwarded north. The railroad companies will transport such supplies free of charge and their generosity, it is hoped, will be matched by that of private citizens everywhere.

It has been thought inexpedient to send food to such a distance, but most acceptable will be the articles which naturally first occur to one's mind in considering their needs, such as shoes and children's apparel.

Mr. Phillips has often traveled through the burned district and knows conditions which prevailed there in 1908. But what especially brought the seriousness of affairs to his mind at this time is the fact that the mother of one of his employees at the hotel lived in the midst of the burned tract near Au Sable and lost everything. He went into Detroit yesterday to meet his mother and Mr. Phillips has heard at first hand in this way of the great suffering for necessities which prevails there.

In response to the offer which Dr. W. H. Sherzer, President of the Boy Scouts of Ypsilanti, made Governor Osborn Thursday viz., that he might call upon the Scouts for relief work in the burned district, the following telegram has been received:

"Lansing, Mich., July 13, 1911.

"W. H. Sherzer:

"I thank you heartily for your offer to be of service. Will be pleased to call upon you if present arrangements are inadequate.

"CHASE S. OSBORN, Governor."

The matter therefore will be in abeyance for the present, but, even though it comes to nothing, the Scouts will have had the experience of offering themselves to their state and they still eagerly anticipate going.

YPSILANTIAN HAS THRILLING EXPERIENCE IN FIRE DISTRICT

Perhaps the Ypsilantian who has known the horrors of the northern fires at closest range has been Charles Cleary. He has been in the thickest of the fire-fight at Au Sable, having gone north on business connected with the Cleary Business College. He reports that on Tuesday all the men in the town turned out to fight this implacable destroyer. In going from Au Sable to Oscoda, he crossed a burning bridge which went down just as he had reached the further side. He tried to telephone his family to relieve the anxiety which they must feel, but the telephone poles had caught fire, burned at the base and toppled over. Chased from one place to another by the flames, he finally got away from the district on a relief train. In the ruins of the Elliot House, where he had stopped were found the charred remains of a victim of the fire.

FRIENDS AWAIT WORD FROM FORMER STUDENT AND HER MOTHER

The Ypsilanti friends of Miss Whitely are awaiting assurance of the safety of herself and mother. They lived on Normal street last year and Miss Whitely attended the college and are known to have gone to Millersburg.

FIRES STILL THREATEN MORE DAMAGE, CALLS GO OUT FOR HELP

Millersburg, Mich., July 13.—The men of Millersburg for a week have fought ceaselessly to push back the red ring that threatens their village. They have won a partial victory. Half of the town remains, half is a terra cotta plateau, smoking and desolate. Thirty-eight buildings, including a sawmill, a school house, "the pride of Millersburg," and the most costly dwelling went before Tuesday's gale.

Five miles to the north a dirty crimson cloud hangs on the horizon. It is stealing this way at the rate of about a mile a day. From other directions lesser fires approach and are at the very threshold of the village. Twelve farms have been erased and a hundred others are ruined, the crops burned in the fields, fences gone and cattle either killed or driven off. Should the wind raise to 20 miles an hour the fire would sweep in resistlessy from the north.

The food supply is low and poverty grinds the inhabitants. Millersburg is on the Detroit & Machinac railway, 35 miles south of Cheboygan, and 14 miles from Metz, where 50 persons died in the fires of 1908. The timber has been practically all cut away and the three mills, Williams, the Stewart Lumber Co. and the Michigan Manufacturing Co.'s handle plant, have been closed down. Business before the fire was very slack, now the prospects here are bad. The mills are under full pressure of steam so as to be able to take their part in the battle, but there is almost no work being done except on the fire line.

East Tawas, Mich., July 14.—East Tawas beach will be threatened should the fires advance on the east side of the tracks. It is now six miles from the city, while the beach is two miles distant. Lake Solitude, which lies between here and the fire, extends almost from the tracks to Lake Huron and most folks scoff at the idea that the fire can jump it.

Sparks Carried a Mile.

Ot Oscoda, the first building caught from sparks carried over one mile. This north country is virtually, as has been said, a tinder box. Passengers on board trains can scarcely breathe for the dust.

The Scores of Detroiters at East Tawas beach would be cut off and pushed to the lake should the fire continue to sweep down east of the tracks.

Superintendent Luce of the railroad company, is preparing to send out fire fighters at the company's expense in case the fire wardens do not. There is not a fire line out at present.

On the west side of the tracks of the D. & M. is the sturdy fire which swept the twin villages. It has traveled eight miles down from the ruined communities and as headed will strike the west side of East Tawas.

Vanderbilt, Mich., July 14.—Berryville, a small town in Corwin township, five miles from here, has been almost completely wiped out by a forest fire which is being driven by the fiercest gale in years.

The worst fire in the history of the county has made destitute 60 families who have saved only their lives, leaving all their possessions to be devoured by the flames, which show no signs of cessation.

Many families buried valuables in the ground in a vain hope that they might be saved. The intense heat of the ground must have surely destroyed them, however.

Grayling, Mich., July 14.—Nine wood camps and "Kentuckytown" in Antrim county have been destroyed completely and many families made homeless. The fires are now thought to be under control

"WHAT IS SOCIALISM?"

"Now the socialist contends that, between the ownership of those tools in the first instance and the use of those tools in the second, something was produced that could be sold for more money—was of more value—than A, the owner, expended. That something, that 'surplus value,' the socialist contends, was created not by A, the owner of the tools—he was paid for his ownership out of the primary profits—but by B who used the tools, and the profit therefore should not go to A, but to B. The socialist grants that A may be rewarded for his ownership and for the opportunity provided B, but he maintains that B should be rewarded for his time and should receive that 'surplus value which he has created. Socialism then differs from communism in that it rests its claims upon the merits of labor, falls back to the ethics of products. Communism rests its claims upon the wants of its clientage and hence has a philanthropic, not an economic basis.

"As applied by critics, of socialism the term 'paternalism' means simply an absolute rule by bureaucracy, a scheme for the absolute centralization of government, with a maze of legislation that would control practically all the activities of life and stamp out the individual, putting an end to effort and placing a premium upon pauperism. Under its regime the home would disappear, mankind would be housed in dormitories, the men and women known perhaps by numbers, the ideal of the family reduced to zero and each citizen confined to the performance of an allotted, narrow task in such manner as to be no more than a small part of a great macine. Standing as he does for governmental centralization, the socialist protests that centralization is in no wise incompatible with a society which would grant the largest possible degree of liberty and opportunity for individual development. He argues that each citizen has a right to such development so long as that development does not infringe upon the similar right of another citizen. But that when such an infringement proceeds, the right cannot proceed. But a man has a right, according to the socialist, to stop one kind of work and take up another, but he has no right willingly to cease all work and depend on society for his support.

"Socialism then is not anarchism, because socialism demands not less government of all kind,—which anarchism wants,—but a great deal more government of the democratic kind, which anarchism abhors. Second, socialism is not communism, because communism demands that all men share alike, while socialism demands that each man receive in accordance with that which, in the socialist's opinion, he gives. Third, socialism is not paternalism because paternalism would sacrifice individuality, whereas socialism seeks to give equal chances for individual development, while enforcing upon each individual equal obligations to all other individuals."

How this theory is supported, how it is applied and what its believers think will be its ultimate effect, we shall now proceed at length to consider.

"HUMAN LIFE ALWAYS TO BE VALUED ABOVE PROPERTY."

We have criticized during the present conflagration in the north the policy of the state, which has permitted these valuable acres to be stripped off to enrich a few people, without anything like a commensurate return to the state being made. The criticism went largely to the policy which the state has permitted itself to put into operation and to continue. Some criticism of course will naturally go to the individual who takes advantage of his state in this way and lits it for such a disastrous conflagration as has just swept across upper Michigan. But we are not so likely to criticize the individuals, nor do we believe the individual is so much the subject of criticism (unless he helps to formulate that policy for his own selfish ends) as the state which formulates and perpetuates the policy. These shrewd business men who took advantage of the situation have made millioms—many of them have lost heavily of course during this conflagration. And the human side was finely shown in the press reports of his fire at Au Sable and Oscoda in the case of Captain Myers of the steamer Niko.

Following the instructions of the millionaire lumbermen who owned the vessel, Edward Hines, of Chicago, against the angry objections of the large number of people whom he had taken on his boat to save them from the angry flames, he had held his boat to the dock until the fire had snapped the cables, and then he refused to leave so long as there was another life he might save. Those he had already saved threatened to take his boat out of his own hands and put off to sea, but he calmly told them that he was following instructions and these were the instructions:

"This boat is owned by Edward Hines, the Chicago lumberman. He told me that human life was always to be valued above property, and I was to save lives at all cost. I am going to stay at the dock."

If the state had only put this kind of humanitarian sentiment into its policy in disposing of its public lands and in protecting life first and above property, we would have been saved the disastrous conflagration of this week, and one almost as bad a year or two ago, and numerous other ones of lesser magnitude.

JACKSON—A drilled well, nobody knows how deep, but one that will supply 500,000 gallons of water every twenty-four hours, is to be sunk at the prison. The state appropriated $4,000 for a new well, the old one never having been satisfactory. It will be the deepest well in Jackson.

ANN ARBOR—The University of Michigan museum has recently obtained a large collection of insects. It was received from Prof. Ledyard, formerly of this county and now assistant professor of entomolagy in the University of the Philippines. It numbers about 60,000 specimens. They are being identified, sorted and arranged at the museum by Prof. Ledyard who is here on a leave of absence. He has also given to the museum 23 bound volumes on the Philippines fauna flora.

KALAMAZOO—The Michigan Prosecuting Attorneys' and Sheriffs' association will hold a convention here next week, which will bring about 150 people to this city.

JACKSON—Jackson uses nearly 62 tons of ice a day during the warm weather and over half that much daily the rest of the year.

NATIONAL

WASHINGTON—The little red brick building in the back yard of the state, war and navy building, which has served as the White House stable for nearly half a century, is about to pass into history. It was built during the days of President Grant.

CHICAGO—The Art Institute has secured a valuable addition to its mural decorations by purchasing the famous panel, "Jean d'Arc at the Court of Chinon" by Maurice Boutet de Monvel of Paris. The price paid was over $6,000.

The Five Great Races.

In answer to the question, "What are the five great races of mankind?" a Chinese student replied, said Bishop Montgomery at the anniversary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, reports the London Mail, "the hundred yards, the hurdles, the quarter mile, the mile and the three miles." In another paper a Chinese student said that "Out of sight, out of mind," could be explained in two words, "Invisible insane."

Great Writer Not Fond of Music.

Dr. Johnson was among those who had no high opinion of music. He admitted that "if he had learnt musick he should have been afraid he would have done nothing else but play," but explained that "it was a method of employing the mind without the labor of thinking at all and with some applause for a man's self." He also confessed that "he knew a drum from a trumpet and a bagpipe from a guitar which was about the extent of his knowledge of musick."

Ocean Always Cold.

The great bulk of the water in the oceans is always cold. Only the surface is ever warm, even in the tropics. The depths know nothing of the heat of the sun or the changes in the seasons.

GRIPS AS MUSCLE BUILDERS

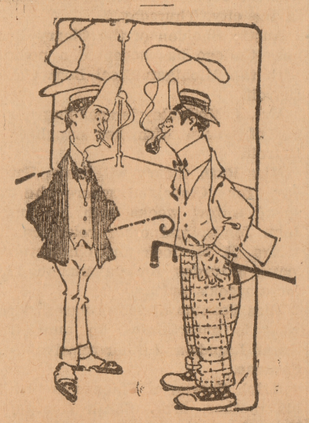
Traveling Salesman Seems to Have Idea Which Might Really Be Called a Good One.

After dinner they were discussing athletics, and each had his favorite method of reducing or building up. The traveling salesman proudly called attention to a remarkable development of biceps which swelled up beneath his coat sleeve.

"Very good, indeed," said the professor, testing with his fingers. "How do you accomplish it?"

"My method is extremely simple and takes no time away from my work. In fact, it is a result. These muscles have been developed by carrying heavily loaded 'grips,' as we usually call our big handbags on the road. I always carry two, loaded as nearly alike as possible, so I shall not grow one-sided. I began with only one grip, and swung it from one hand to the other, as fatigue impelled, but I found that it is actually easier to carry two than one. I am perfectly balanced with two, and I assure you I need no extra gym work for strengthening my arms, shoulders or back. I almost could carry a piano in each hand if the instruments were not so cumbersome."

QUITE DIFFERENT.



Dickson—I wonder if I shall ever be rich enough to own a steam yacht?

Wickson—Um. That isn't my ambition.

Dickson—What is?

Wickson—I want to be rich enough after I own one to run it for a few weeks each season.

Counted Ants for Two Years.

A marvel of scientific research, says our Berlin correspondent, has been accomplished by Professor Young, who has been investigating the interior condition of anthills. By dint of patient observation Professor Yemg discovered that an anthill two feet in height was inhabited by 93,780 ants. Other anthills of almost the same size were found to contain 67,500, 53,000 and 48,000 ants respectively. These observations and the counting of the tiny insects occupied two years.—London Evening Standard.

PIANOS AT SENSATIONAL REDUCTIONS

Beautiful Guaranteed Instruments
Large Assortment to Choose From

OUR GREAT SALE OF STUDENTS' PIANOS BRINGS MUSIC WITH ALL ITS PLEASURES AND ADVANTAGES EASILY WITHIN REACH OF EVERY PIANOLESS HOME IN YPSILANTI AND VICINITY.

NEW ENGLAND
Sale Price $130.

Nothing so clearly demonstrates the unusual money-saving character of this Piano Clearance as the large number of instruments sold. All who see these Pianos; who hear them, and note the great reductions, lose no time in taking advantage of this opportunity—they find here the greatest bargains ever presented, and realize that they will, in all probability, never be duplicated.

SPLENDID TONAL QUALITY AND RELIABILITY MARK THE INSTRUMENTS OF OUR LINE.

No lot of instruments of unknown makes and unknown quality, this. But an assortment embracing names familiar, and noted far and wide for the musical worth they represent—STEINWAY, standard of the World; the incomparable GRINNELL BROS. (our own make); the artistic SOHMER; the superb VOSE; the dependable WEGMAN; the popular STERLING; the beautiful SMITH & BARNES; the sweet-toned HUNTINGTON; the reliable MENDELSSOHN, Etc.

From these the students of music selected their instruments—and now they have been returned to us, filling our warerooms to overflowing, and making necessary measures which will move them from our floors immediately.

SHARE IN THESE WONDERFUL VALUES

Think of obtaining a $300 New England Piano for only $130; a $275 Smith & Barnes for $178; a $350 Sterling for $245—is it to be wondered at that our Sale is such a remarkable success when it is understood that our sale stock is made up of similar values throughout.

Every instrument has been tuned and adjusted. They were rented to music lovers and, of course, received very careful usage. Many of them can scarcely be told from new—and they are like new in every particular which has to do with tonal quality and durability. And you have a whole year to try the instrument in your own home, for we give with each the privilege of Free Exchange within that time for any new Piano of our regular line.

Payments as Low as
$5 Down And $5 Monthly

To provide the home with a sweet-toned, guaranteed Piano is certainly a very easy matter—$5 to $10 as first payment, and $5, $6, etc. per month is all we ask. If more convenient we will be glad to arrange quarterly payments instead.

You can't make a mistake in purchasing NOW—satisfaction is assured absolutely—and greater bargains have never been presented; a fact which investigation will quickly verify.

Write or phone us at once for complete list of sale instruments and full particulars if you can't call.

WE KEEP TALKING HOOSIER CABINETS

For a fact, if the women only realized what a saving of steps the HOOSIER brings about, every home would have one.

This hot weather is bad enough, when you can sit out on the porch in your Old Hickory. But to spend a couple of hours in the stuffy kitchen more than you need to, simply because you lack a HOOSIER, seems so foolish. Any one can have a HOOSIER—a dollar a week will do it..

The wise buyer gets his porch furniture now. We will not carry it over. Money talks.

Noticed that solid Mahogany four post bed in our window?
